

FLOODS FOLLOW IN WAKE OF TORNADO

Dayton, Ohio, Inundated and Completely Isolated with Loss of Life Rumored

INDIANA AND OHIO SUFFER

Thousands Are Rendered Homeless and Washouts Tie Up Railroad Traffic

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 25.—Later reports to Gov. Cox from Dayton were that the Leonard building on Ludlow street, a four story brick structure, had collapsed and carried with it a score of persons at work in offices there.

The governor was informed that the Miami river levee at Main street had broken and that the city was under seven feet of water. The main street bridge was used by the Big Four, the Pennsylvania and the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroads. The governor wired the Red Cross society in Washington for aid for Dayton.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 25.—The water and gas supply of the city was turned off this afternoon when the floods put the plants out of commission. Indianapolis is practically cut off from the rest of the world by steam and electric transportation. In the low lands families have been turned out of their houses.

DELAWARE, O., March 25.—Seven persons drowned here today when the Olentangy river overflowed its banks and flooded the town. Three bodies have been recovered.

Mayor Leas barely escaped being drowned while attempting to rescue four women. After he had taken his own family to safety in a rowboat he took four women from a house top. The boat containing the mayor and the four women was overturned by the swift current.

Mayor Leas held one woman afloat until she was drawn in to another boat but the other three perished.

PHONETON, Ohio, March 25.—(Six miles northeast of Dayton.)—Almost the entire city of Dayton is today under from two to seven feet of water as a result of the breaking of the levee on the Miami river. Thousands of persons were forced to flee for their lives.

There are wild rumors of heavy loss of life. It is not believed, however, that they will be substantiated, as the people had ample warning of the weakened condition of the levee hours before it broke.

The business section suffered greatly from the flood. Many of the office buildings have been abandoned. Business is absolutely paralyzed. The main bridge across the river has been dynamited, as debris floating down the stream formed a dam.

Aid is being rushed from all surrounding towns. Communication with the stricken city is spasmodic and unreliable.

Dayton Levee Breaks
DAYTON, Ohio, March 25.—Thousands of persons were made homeless in Dayton and vicinity today and forced to take shelter in tents and public buildings when the Big Miami river levee broke in three places with the river at flood stage and still rising. Scores of factories are closed. According to weather bureau records the river is the highest in forty years.

Marooned on Roofs
COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 25.—Adjutant General George H. Wood was asked today to save fifty persons in La Rue, Marion county, driven to their house tops by rising waters. Wood requested state employees at Russell's Point on Lewistown reservoir, to rush boats to the stricken district.

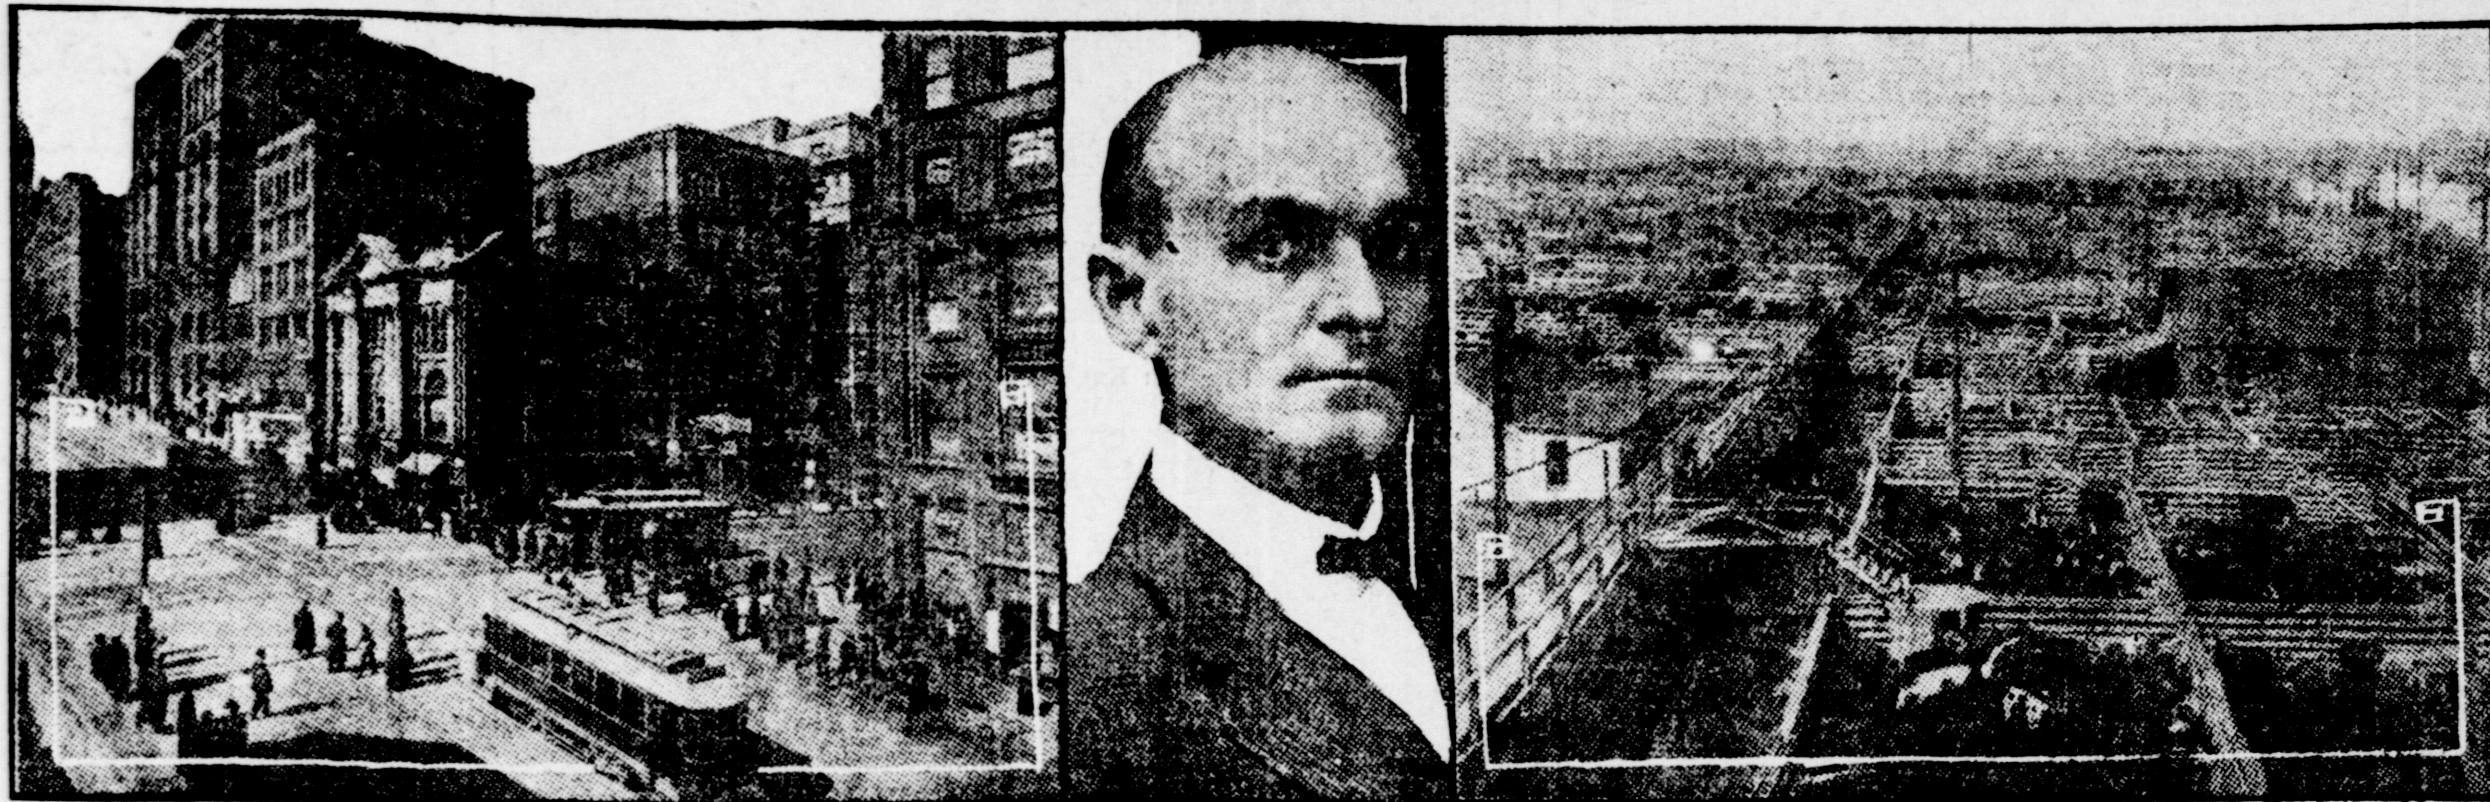

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 25.—The Neshannock river, which is unusually about five feet deep, has broken loose and is a raging flood, sending a stream of water three feet deep across the business streets near the stream.

Conditions Worst in Years
CINCINNATI, Ohio, March 25.—Reports from all points in Ohio today indicate that as a result of the almost continuous downpour of rain for the past forty-eight hours, flood conditions are the worst in years. One fatality has been reported and the property damage, especially to crops, will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars; thousands are homeless. The western and northern sections of the state suffered most.

Muncie Flooded
MUNCIE, Ind., March 25.—The White river has exceeded all previous flood stages and is rising four inches an hour. Railroad communication was cut off today and conditions are growing serious. Hundreds of persons are homeless.

TWO VIEWS OF RUINED OMAHA AND MAYOR DAHLMAN

Portion of the Banking and Business District of Omaha (left). Mayor Dahlman, Omaha Stockyards.

As a result of the tornado which swept over Nebraska Sunday night a large part of the city of Omaha lies in ruins. One of the accompanying pictures shows a portion of the banking and business section of the city, which suffered great loss by the storm. Another shows the stockyards, which were wrecked. Mayor Dahlman's first act after the tornado had swept over the city was to call for state troops.

WATER COMPLETES WIND DESTRUCTION

Tornado-swept Terre Haute Flooded by Dangerous Rise of Wabash River

DOUBLE PROBLEM SWAMPS RELIEF
Thousand Flood Refugees Added to the Homeless Survivors of the Storm

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., March 25.—Floods have been added to the horrors of Easter's tornado here. The Wabash river was over three feet above the danger stage today and was rising six inches per hour. A thousand persons were driven from their homes in Taylorville, a suburb. The flood rescue work, with the problems of caring for the tornado's homeless has simply swamped the authorities.

Threaten Merchants
Despite the fact that relief committees have engaged to feed, clothe and re-start in life nearly 300 displaced workmen and their families, Mayor Gerhardt was compelled to issue a threat to punish any storekeeper found charging exorbitant prices for food.

The authorities and the inhabitants of Terre Haute only today awoke from the daze that followed the disaster. Three public schools housed the homeless and there they were fed also.

The small home owners have been promised help toward a new start in life. Furniture will be bought with public funds and will be presented to families who cannot otherwise replace the ruined belongings. The tornado wiped out a working class section principally.

Fund Grows Slowly
The relief fund grew slowly today with the small donations of the working classes rather than with the big pledges of the rich. Not quite $5,000 had been subscribed this morning.

State troops patrolled the wrecked area. Work of searching the debris for more bodies went forward slowly. Practically nothing has been done to reclaim the district laid waste.

NEBRASKA TOWNS ARE DEMOLISHED

Reports Beginning to Come In Tell of Loss of Life and Big Damage in Small Villages

OMAHA, Neb., March 25.—A report from Berlin, Neb., this morning declares the entire town was laid in ruins by the tornado that passed over the town Sunday evening. Eight persons are known dead and at least a score injured.

MEAD, Neb., March 25.—Two are dead and several injured as a result of the tornado that passed near Mead on Sunday evening, wrecking several farm houses and destroying scores of smaller buildings.

PLATTSBURGH, Neb., March 25.—A portion of the Easter Sunday night storm passed to the west of this city, killing one person and doing considerable damage and wrecking several farm houses.

TRAMP SENTENCED.
James Alexander, a tramp, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge John Brindley yesterday for begging.

THE TORNADO LEFT CANDLES BURNING

Express Messenger Says House Was Torn to Pieces but Candles About Coffin Were Not Put Out

HOUSES THROWN LIKE CARDBOARD

Declares Full List of Dead Will Not Be Obtained Until Debris Is Cleared

MINNEAPOLIS, March 25.—H. H. Kortmeyer, Great Western express messenger, who arrived here from Omaha today, declared that during the tornado Sunday all the windows of a house in which a wake was being held over the body of a dead infant, were blown out and the building almost torn from its foundation yet all of the candles continued to burn throughout the storm.

Kortmeyer, who was in the downtown section during the storm, declared the published reports did not begin to describe the horror.

"How many lives were lost and what the damage will be cannot possibly be estimated until the debris is entirely cleared away," said Kortmeyer. "After the storm had passed I walked about the ruined area from 20th street to 20th near Lake street. Many of the dwellings had collapsed like paper boxes. They were twisted and distorted into all kinds of odd shapes. One house contained four women who were having a friendly talk when the tornado swept down. One of them told me the next day they were thrown to safety through the windows. Not one of them was hurt and none can explain how they were thrown out of the window."

"In another home seven people were piled in a heap when the upper floors collapsed. None of the inmates were hurt and they crawled to safety through holes in what was left of their home."

SALAZAR ACCEPTS HUERTA

JUAREZ, Mex., March 25.—Several trains of empty stock and box cars were sent to Casas Grandes early today to bring men, horses, artillery and supplies to Juarez. It is believed now that the federals will turn over Juarez to the Gen. Inez Salazar, who accepted the Huerta regime Saturday. The former rebel leader is expected to take charge of military affairs along the border for the Huerta government and begin a vigorous campaign against the Maderistas.

HEIRLESS STORM VICTIM

BROOKLINE, Mass., March 25.—No word has been received today from Mrs. Malcolm D. White, formerly Miss Jennie Crocker, the $10,000,000 California heiress, who, with her two step children, is believed to have been in or near the tornado-ravaged zone. Her husband has been frantically trying to reach her and has sent reports to New York to discover whether the train on which she was traveling was stopped before reaching the affected district.

TRAIN CREW REPORTED LOST

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 25.—Reports received in the Pennsylvania offices here today said that a wreck train leaving Bradford, on the Indianapolis division, this morning, crashed through a bridge near Urbana, Ohio. The train is said to have carried a crew of twenty men. Although details were lacking, it was rumored that only six of the crew had been accounted for shortly after the accident happened.

COUNTY BOARD TO MEET TOMORROW

Proposed Repair of the McGilvray Road and Bridge to Meet Opposition

BOUNDARY TO BE DISCUSSED

Onalaska Town's Petition for Change Not Popular with Campbellites

The proposed repair of the McGilvray road and bridge which has been the bone of contention between the town of Holland and La Crosse county for more than a year and which has been taken to the circuit court by petition in a mandamus suit will probably be the principal subject of argument at the regular meeting of the county board of supervisors which will convene tomorrow morning. It is the belief of apparently the majority of the board that the repair of the road and bridge will entail an expense out of proportion to its usefulness and strenuous opposition to the undertaking will undoubtedly develop.

It is further argued that it would be of decided benefit to all concerned to obtain a court ruling so as to definitely decide the rights and responsibilities of the town, county and property owners who petitioned for the reopening of the road.

According to a recent investigation and report made by County Highway Commissioner John Hintgen the repair of the road and bridge will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Another disagreement is likely to develop over the proposed change of the boundary line between the towns of Onalaska and Campbell. The town of Onalaska has petitioned the board to change the boundary line so as to turn over about 1000 acres of land now in that town to the town of Campbell. The town board of Campbell has made it known that they would not have the land as a gift and will fight any attempt to shove it on to them. This land was at one time in the town of Campbell and on the request of Onalaska township the line was changed so as to include it in Onalaska town.

The land in question is at the upper end of French Island and for the most part is swamp and hay land.

The committee on claims held a meeting today in preparation for the meeting of the board tomorrow.

TRAIN IN RIVER

BELLEFONTAINE, O., March 25.—Thirty passengers of a sleeping car, attached to Pennsylvania train No. 3, bound for Chicago, had narrow escapes from drowning when the engine and sleeper plunged into the Mad river early today.

Rescued from their berths in their night clothing women and men crawled through the submerged car and escaped to the river banks.

High waters carried away sections of a bridge. The engine and rear sleeper fell into the river, leaving six coaches marooned on the trestle.

ALLEGHENY IN FLOOD

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 25.—Reports from the river districts today show all traffic blocked north of here and half a dozen towns under water. Youngstown, Meadville, Sharon and Newcastle report the worst floods in their history. Pennsylvania railroad trains are held by numerous washouts, all industrial plants are shut down and the rivers are still rising.

Forecaster Pennywitt predicted the Allegheny river will reach an 18 foot stage.

FIFTEEN KILLED IN ILLINOIS TORNADO

Village of Makanda Is Destroyed by Twister which Strikes There Last Night

BLOWS FREIGHT FROM TRACKS

Heavy Train Dumped Into Ditch and Rain Washes Away Contents of Cars

ANNA, Ill., March 25.—Fifteen persons were killed in Makanda, Ill., just north of here in a tornado which struck the village last night. A fast freight on the Illinois Central railroad was blown from the track and twenty-five heavily loaded cars were dumped into the ditch.

Following the tornado, rain falling in torrents covered the ground to a depth of three feet, washing away the contents of the cars. The loss of freight will reach $1,000. Engineer Waggoner and Fireman Andrews of Centralia were seriously injured.

The theory has always prevailed that in this hilly country cyclones would be broken up by the hills without doing any damage.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., March 25.—Mrs. Bud Walker and Reba Patrick, aged 11, were killed and several injured by a cyclone that passed through the country twelve miles southeast of Murphysboro last night.

IGNORES TRUCE

EL PASO, Texas, March 25.—Although a twenty-four hour truce was declared at Cananea Monday night after a twelve hour battle between Maderistas and federals, in order to allow burial of the dead, Gen. Ojeda and his federal force which held Naco, Sonora, moved south from there early today. Presumably he proposes to attack the Maderista besiegers of Cananea.

HENNEBRY IS SEATED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 25.—Michael F. Hennebry, democrat, from the 41st district, was seated in the house today over the formal protests of republicans and progressives. The vote on the report of the credentials committee was 95 to 23.

EXPECT INCREASE IN REGISTRATION

Recounting Votes Cast for Candidates for Board of Public Works at Primaries

An increase of three or four hundred in the poll list is expected to be made today when the registration figures are added up. Today is the last registration day before the municipal election, April 1. According to reports from the booths about the city, the registration has been light.

The election officials in various booths about the city are engaged today in recounting the votes cast for candidates for the board of public works at the primaries. They have been canvassed by the board of election canvassers to furnish complete new returns. The first returns, according to the board, were not definite as to the second choice votes, and left the winning of the last two places on the ticket in doubt.

In the recount John Hayes and William Revey are said to be running about neck and neck both in first and second choice votes.

OMAHA, Neb., March 25.—With ninety-nine of the bodies taken from the path of Omaha's tornado identified, soldiers and militiamen, city police and firemen redoubled their efforts at noon today to clear away the debris in the places where more bodies are suspected of being covered.

Rumors regarding a looter being shot down by a soldier from Fort Crook are apparently confirmed. Members of the guard about the ruins declare a negro who was attempting to loot a building was shot through the eye. No trace, however, can be found of the soldier or the negro, and officers refuse to discuss the matter.

The entire death list in the path of the storm now totals 176.

Small Towns Suffer

With the rehabilitation of telephone and telegraph wires, reports are coming in hourly of more fatalities in the small towns that were wrecked in the cyclone Sunday night. Three more bodies were found in Yutan, Neb., and reports from Berlin, Neb., state that there are probably many farmers dead, whose families have not been able to communicate with outside points. Much stock was killed on the farms in the eastern part of the state and hundreds of farm buildings were totally demolished.

An idea of what a gigantic task faces the rescuers may be gleaned from the fact that the hundreds of soldiers, firemen and police have only cleared the wreckage away from the idle pool hall and are just starting on another building near. To complete the search for bodies will require several weeks' time.

Like Armed Camp

With two inches of snow covering the ground and making the further work of rescue in the path of Sunday night's tornado more difficult, Omaha today presented the appearance of war times. An entire regiment of militia is patrolling the storm district, aiding the regular United States soldiers from Fort Crook in the clearing work.

Every church auditorium, every hall and empty store-room is being used to house the homeless victims. After a careful checking of undertaking apartments last night, it was found that there are 110 known dead in Omaha. The work will proceed among the ruins today, as not more than one-fifth of the wrecked homes have been touched.

Wholly or partially demolished homes number 1,663, according to figures compiled by the relief committee. The figures do not include churches and schools and private mercantile institutions. Three city officials are authority for the statement that the homes alone represent a property loss of $5,000,000. This figure connected with the value of other property, such as railroad wires and rails, raises the entire loss to $10,000,000.

Altogether the property loss in western Iowa, Council Bluffs and Omaha is $11,000,000.

There are 2,179 people made homeless by the tornado, and these are now being cared for at the relief stations.

According to figures compiled at the scene of the storm 263 people have reported themselves destitute and dependent upon the aid of the state or county for relief.

Wagons, loaded with clothing and food, are drawn up in long lines in front of the relief stations waiting for those with credentials to call upon them for supplies.

Account Says Re Umberto Driven on Rocks—
Tugboat Blown Up.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 2.—The Italian battleship Re Umberto, which had been conveying landing expeditions in Tripoli, has been driven on the rocks by a storm. She sank on the coast near Zuzara.

The Re Umberto was built in 1907, and carried a complement of over 700 men. She was 400 feet long and 77 feet in beam, drawing 25 feet of water. Her armament included four 12.5-inch guns.

Zuzara is on the northwest coast of Tripoli, near the Tunisian border. Ghoul water and rocky patches extend along that coast for half a mile off shore, making navigation hazardous.

Industrial And Continuation School Proves Great Success

Class in English For Foreigners

Evening Cooking Class for Older Girls

Day Cooking Class For Young Girls

Day Class in Mechanical Drawing

The free industrial and continuation school inaugurated last October, and now housed in the Longfellow school, has proven as successful as its most earnest supporters predicted when the school was first suggested.

The last monthly report by Director Thomas C. Sutherland to the board of education shows that the average weekly attendance at the evening school has been more than 250.

The school is aimed to reach two classes—young people who have been forced to leave school and are desirous of completing their education along technical lines, and children under sixteen years who are required to work by the needs of their families.

The evening school is the most popular, although there has been steady attendance at the day school, or continuation school. A glance at the schedule will tell why the evening classes are so well attended. It will be seen that the only subjects taught are ones of real practical value. Every teacher is an expert in his or her line, and the instruction is consequently along the best lines possible. The schedule follows:

The Schedule

Monday— English for foreigners, advanced, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, J. F. Stuckert, instructor; mechanical drawing, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, T. G. Sutherland instructor; plain sewing, Washburn school, 8th and Main, Miss Kemper instructor.

Tuesday— Advanced English and mathematics, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, Miss Cleveland instructor; cooking, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, G. L. Brandt instructor; woodworking, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, Geo. W. Frey instructor; commercial work, high school, 16th and Cass, R. H. Butler instructor; dressmaking, high school, 16th and Cass, Miss Selenthin instructor; English for foreigners, beginning.

Wednesday— English for foreigners, intermediate, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine street, J. F. Stuckert instructor; millinery, Washburn school, 8th and Main, Miss Trapp instructor.

Thursday— Mechanical drawing, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, T. G. Sutherland instructor; woodworking, Longfellow school, 6th and Vine, Geo. W. Frey instructor; commercial work, attend the school five hours daily, and when at work they must spend one session a week at the school. Consequently, when the boys appear at the school steadily, Mr. Sutherland knows at once that they are out of work, and if they wish it, he hunts up jobs for them.

Although Mr. Sutherland does not give the school credit for the raise, he admits that he has never secured a boy from the industrial school a position without also procuring for him a larger wage than he received before. Mr. Sutherland says that he has had no trouble in placing boys from the school, and that there are several establishments in town that have a standing demand for all the boys they can secure who have had the industrial school training.

145 Weekly Average

The average attendance at the continuation school in the afternoons has been 145 weekly. The total number of boys between the ages of 14 and 16 that have attended since the school opened is in the neighborhood of 200, showing that about 55 of the boys became sixteen during the past year. The boys who work are required to spend five hours a week, or one session, at the school. When out of work, they must attend the school at every session. The sessions start in the afternoon and continue until 5 o'clock.

One special feature of the work which gives it especial value is the fact that each boy, or girl, gets individual work. Classes are not so large that the teachers have not plenty of time to devote to studying the individual and figuring out methods for the best training. The results of this system are plainly seen in the exhibit of work turned out by the industrial school pupils.

Articles of furniture of every kind, including stands of solid wood or veneered, tables, chairs, drawing tables and plate racks, wooden cores for iron molds, an arc lamp, a wireless system, match safes, book stands and numerous other things may be mentioned.

Clay Modeler Talented

Among the most remarkable work is that of a young foreigner, an employee of a wood shop in the city, who models in clay. His busts and high relief figures show talent of a high order, and there are two or three others who have taken up the work who also show marked promise.

The girls' classes, in which cooking, home care and dress making are taught are well attended, and immensely popular with the girls. Both day and night classes are full of girls of all ages, and the training they receive is practical in the extreme.

The Queen Looked at the Beggar.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

An Easter Story

Of a Lily

And a Rose

A STORY of Easter, so daddy said, should always tell about the birds and flowers.

"What flower do you think is the Easter flower?" he asked Jack and Evelyn.

"Why, it's the lily," they chorused. "Everybody knows that."

"Ah, do they?" daddy smiled. "Very well, then, suppose I tell you a story."

"Once on a time, so my story tells, the best and most beautiful queen in all the world had a lovely garden of flowers."

"The Rose was the queen of them all and very proud she was of her rank and beauty."

"Far away from the lovely park and palace garden stretched a great black marsh. Only the snakes and the wild birds lived among its tangle of wild grasses."

"The Rose shuddered whenever she looked out at the marsh, it was so ugly and lonely."

"But one morning as she looked out toward the marsh she saw a tall, slender stem rising out of the black earth, and on its tip were some long buds."

"From hour to hour she watched this new plant. It was so different from any other she had ever seen."

"And one day she saw the buds open and the flower unroll. It was pure white with what looked like a drop of gold in its heart. But the Rose was jealous and would not ask the beautiful flower to come and share the palace garden with her."

"And as she looked the queen came out into the garden. She, too, saw the lovely white flower in the marsh."

"Go bring it to me," she said to her page. But just as the page reached the flower a beggar child saw and picked the white flower."

"And the page brought the beggar child to the queen. The queen looked long at the thin, little beggar in his rags and dirt."

"Poor little waif!" said the good queen, with a tear in her eye. "Even the good and great!" And the queen sent him away to be fed and clothed and cared for at her cost."

"And she turned to her gardener. 'Henceforth the lily shall be my flower. Plant it close by the palace door that I may never forget the lesson it teaches.'"

"And when the Rose heard this it bowed its head with shame and blushed a deep, dark red."

CONGRATULATIONS TO FATHER MURPHY

It makes us feel "along in years" to know that the congregation of St. James church is today honoring the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rev. Father Ambrose Murphy's pastorate, yet if the years have told their tale in the faces of some of us, they have dealt gently with this cheerful priest. One wonders if it is not the smile he cannot hide that has been his "fountain of youth," a fountain in which he has let us all bathe upon those pleasant occasions when he has consented to participate in civic entertainments. It has done us good that Father Murphy has lived his friendly, manly life among us, and it has helped us the more that with the telling frankness of the cartoonist he has often depicted our foibles and chastised us for our shortcomings. Both witty and droll, he has made us laugh shamefacedly at indictments we would have resented from another. Those of us who know him well treasure his friendship and join with his congregation in congratulating him upon the day that has rounded out twenty-five useful years.

GIVE DR. FRIEDMANN A CHANCE TO MAKE GOOD

While it is commonly conceded that every step in the progress of humanity has been made possible by science and the work and sacrifices of scientists, it is singularly a fact that one of the greatest obstacles that science has had to overcome, aside from the ignorance of the masses, has been a certain class of scientists. When some genius has announced the discovery of a great principle, or by combining principles already discovered has brought out a new and wonderful invention, the carping sort of scientists have been the first to pooh-pooh and "knock."

To a certain extent that is well, perhaps, for it discourages fakes and frauds. But it may be carried too far. There is an instance of this before our eyes today where petty jealousies are leading certain medical men to decry Dr. Friedmann, the German physician, and his tuberculosis serum. We do not refer to those wisely conservative ones who are awaiting the verdict of fair tests before endorsing the cure, but to those who would hinder the tests and conclusively prejudice the case with an adverse verdict. These men do not know that Dr. Friedmann is a fraud. They may honestly think so, but they have no right to assume that which has not been proven without first using every means to demonstrate the facts. The patriotic scientist is he who, even though he doubts, hopes for the best and seeks the truth.

Dr. Friedmann may be unethical, according to American standards. He may be employing peculiar methods. But there remains the chance that he has a real tuberculosis cure—that he is a genius to whom the world will yet pay grateful tribute.

Those New York medical men who have been busy baiting Dr. Friedmann are just beginning to awaken to the thought that perhaps they have been doing him an injustice. A New York dispatch says that though a number of physicians who witnessed some of the tests made by Dr. Friedmann do not yet believe the method is really a cure, the majority of the disinterested doctors in the city were insistent that the time has come when the visiting savant should have a square deal. They bitterly criticize the manner in which some of the physicians permit themselves to be quoted on the treatment, and point out some comparisons that they declare parallel the present case.

One of these doctors, a power in the medical profession, who refused for ethical reasons to permit his name to be mentioned, said that he believed it would take at least three months, and a thousand patients to demonstrate the exact worth of the remedy.

"The suggestion of some of the doctors, who witnessed the tests, that Dr. Friedmann did not have an up-to-date hypodermic needle, is a joke," he said. "There is no comparison between our surgical appliances here and those abroad. Here we spend a million dollars to equip a hospital. Everything is of the best. Over there they do not do so. And what has a little nickle plating on a syringe to do with its availability?"

"I studied under Pasteur in Paris. He was living in a garret. And when four children were sent from Newark, N. J., to be treated, the newspapers denounced the French scientist bitterly. And now, although the efficacy of the treatment has been demonstrated beyond the shadow of a doubt, there are many who insist that it is a failure."

"And was any one ever more bitterly ridiculed than Prof. Koch? Why, he was publicly proclaimed a fakir and imposter, and his heart was broken. Yet today his specific is absolute and one single drop in the eye shows whether true tuberculosis is present."

"One of these doctors who rushed into print is quoted as saying that he stood 12 feet away and was certain that none of the bacilli was administered. Now the dose was four minims. Is there any one person who could tell by a casual glance whether such an infinitely small dose was administered hypodermically? Such criticism is unworthy of the medical profession."

A GREAT WORK UP TO THE NEXT MAYOR

We hope the two men who are running for the office of mayor of La Crosse are pursuing the contest with a full appreciation of the responsibilities that must devolve upon the winner. Each of them has been mayor; each has been involved in an intense factionalism which, it seems certain, must have created strong prejudices. It was contemplation of this unfortunate fact that, more than anything else, prompted a large number of citizens to attempt the nomination of a man who had not participated in these factional differences. That candidacy failed, and its failure has left with the winner in this campaign the obligation to ignore that which is past and to face the future with a clean slate. In no other way can the next mayor of La Crosse hope to do broad and fair service to all citizens alike.

To give no class of men or sort of business an undue influence in government, to yield to no organizations or associations of men as such inequitable advantages, to stand firmly and without bias for a square deal between capital and labor, to respect such privileges and licenses as we grant for a consideration without permitting their abuse, to build for cleaner and better social, moral and business conditions, to lend encouragement to our industries and invite others by a policy as liberal as our rather unsentimental laws permit, to exact from subordinates substantial and conscientious returns to the taxpayers who pay them—the sum of these things constitutes the burden of service which our mayor will owe to the public that elects him.

The issue would be more fairly determined were it not for the fact that in making their choice men are bound to be more or less influenced by considerations of personal advantages which they hope to secure through the election of the one or the other of the candidates, rather than by their judgment as to which of the two is the more apt to do better work for the common good. We should hate to see one mayoralty candidate defeated for failure to violate his oath of office, for that would carry the inference that his opponent was elected in the hope that he would so violate that oath. We should hate above all things to see any man go into this high and honorable office under conditions that would seem to constitute him the agent of any class rather than of the whole community.

Oh, deep is my debt to the suffragette
As she storms the castle keep,
And smashes the panes of the ancient thames
And makes the warders weep.
The light of the queen's in smith-ereens,
The lattice yawneth free,
The totals swell with each oriel—
And they all mean jobs for me!

Sing ye, ho, ho! for the waiter, oh,
As he goes upon a strike,
And assaults with yells the big hotels
That stretch along the pike,
With sticks and stones, 'mid shrieks
and groans,
He shivers the plate glass pane,
While I broadly smile, for it costs a pile
To make them whole again!

Too Warm for Writing

"So you have an accident to report, have you?" said the head clerk to the foreman of the works.
"Yes, sir," said the foreman, and, after gnawing at his penholder for a considerable time, he handed the clerk the report. It read:
"Date: November 28. Nature of accident: Toe badly crushed. How caused: Accidental blow from fellow-workman's sledge hammer. Remarks: —"

"Very good," said the clerk. "But why have you omitted 'Remarks'?"
"Well, sir," said the foreman, who was a very frank man, "seeing as you know what Bill is, and as you know it is his big toe that was hurt, I—well, I didn't like to put 'em down.'"
—Tit-Bits.

Hired by the Defense

The jury, after long deliberation, seemed unable to agree in a perfectly clear case. The judge, thoroughly exasperated at the delay, said:
"I discharge this jury."
One sensitive juror, indignant at what he considered a rebuke, faced the judge.
"You can't discharge me," he said with a tone of conviction.
"And why not?" inquired the judge in surprise.
"Because," announced the juror, pointing to the lawyer for the defense, "I was hired by that man
there."—The Ladies' Home Journal.

The Woes of "Central"

"Hello, there, central! Is this central? It is? I thought it was, but I couldn't be quite sure. The other day I was talking to central and here it was only my grocer. I do think there are some queer mixups in this telephone service. What I want now is to find out the telephone number of a Mrs. John Smith—S-m-i-t-h.
Smith. I find that there are more than 100 persons of that name in the book, and I don't know which one is the husband of the lady I want. She is a large lady with a flour face and prematurely white hair, and I think her husband is a traveling man, and a brother-in-law of hers named Jones lives somewhere on M street, a stoutish, elderly gentleman with side whiskers."
"Now, kindly let me have Mrs.
Smith's number at once. I had it on a slip of paper that I can't find.
Seems to me it was two-four-sixteen ring three, or ninety-two-sixty-four ring two. You know how confusing telephone numbers are. Let me have Mrs. Smith's number right away,
please."—Puck's Quarterly

Advice to Those Who Have Lung Trouble

Tuberculosis is said to be curable by simply living in the open air and taking an abundance of fresh eggs and milk. Do all you possibly can to all to strength and increase weight; eat wholesome, nourishing food, and breathe the cleanest and purest air, and then, if health and strength do not return, and the tonic ad beneficial effects of Eckman's Alternative. Read what it did in this case.

405 E. 5th St., Wilmington, Del.
"Gentlemen: In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, one of the leading practitioners, said that it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very weak. The doctors said I would not gain in weight as long as I stayed in the store; but I kept on working and prayed each day that I might get well. I believe my prayers were answered, for Mr. C. A. Lippincott, my employer (Lippincott & Co., Department Store, 306 to 314 Market street, Wilmington, Del.) had learned of a remedy called Eckman's Alternative that had done great good, and upon his recommendation I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life. I sent my spittle later to the state board of health to be examined for tuberculosis bacilli, and none were found. My mother died from Consumption when I was about two years old.

"I make this statement so that others may learn of the wonderful merits of Eckman's Alternative. I regard my recovery as being miraculous."

THE FIRESIDE SERMON

By Lucius C. Clark, D. D.

March winds
Isaiah, 27, 8.

"He stavest his rough wind in the day of the East wind."
March puts emphasis on the wind.
When we know a little more clearly where it comes from and a little more certainly where it is going, we can take up the mystery of the operation of the Spirit of God. We measure realities by effects. He that rules the winds rules in the Spirit.

Strangely Familiar

The great editor had, thoughtlessly, fallen in love with the young lady whose contributions he had frequently returned. He wrote her a letter, in which he stated that his heart had been in her possession for some time, etc.

The reply staggered him:
"Sorry," she wrote, "to have kept the article sent in by you so long.
Are you sure you enclosed sufficient postage for its return, in case it was unavailable? In returning it, we wish to thank you for your consideration in offering it, and to assure you that our rejection implies no lack of merit in the article itself, simply that we have already on hand more articles of a like character than we can use for some time.
Yours, etc., Miss Margaret Browne."

Those Late Stayers

Father—I hope you won't encourage young Swift in his attentions. I fear he is too easy going.

Daughter—Oh, father, he isn't easy going at all. I yawned a dozen times last night before he took the hint.

Algy—You will forgive me if I—er—ask you something—something—Dorothy—Sure, I will. I knew you would be asking it soon.

Algy—Ah, you know what I am about to ask you? Your heart has told you what—Dorothy—Sure. You're going to ask me what time the last car goes by. You'll just have time to catch it if you start now. So good-night.

An exchange tells of a young man who called on a girl in Fort Scott recently. The couple talked soft and low and when the young man looked at his watch it was in the small hours of the morning. Feeling rather embarrassed, he asked:
"Doesn't your father object to my staying late?"

"Oh, no," returned the girl. "He says it serves me right for being at home when you call."

The Just and
The Unjust

By Vaughan Kester
The Prodigal Judge

Copyright, 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"Do you want anything, North?
Is there anything I can do for you?"
asked General Herbert almost roughly.

"Thank you, but apparently there is nothing that any one can do just now," said North quietly.

The color was creeping back into his face.

"Well, we can't sit idle! Look here, you tried for bail, I understand?"

"Yes, but it has been refused."

"Do you know when the grand jury sits?"

"Next week. Of course my hope is that it won't go beyond that; I don't see how it can!"

"Why didn't you send for me at once?" asked the older man with increasing brusqueness. He took a turn about the room. "What does it all mean? What do you know about McBride's death?" he continued, halting suddenly.

"Absolutely nothing," said North.
And for an instant the two men looked straight into each other's eyes.

"You are sure you don't need anything—money, for instance?"
the general asked, shifting his glance.

"I am quite sure, but I am very grateful to you all the same—"

"Of course the evidence against you is purely circumstantial?"

"I believe so—yes," answered North. "But there are points I don't understand."

"I am coming in tomorrow morning to see you, and talk the whole thing over with you, North."

"I shall be very glad to talk matters over with you, General," said North.

"I wish I could do something for you tonight!" the general said with real feeling, for he realized the long evening, and the longer night that were before the young fellow.

There was a pause. The general could not bring himself to speak of Elizabeth, and North lacked the courage to ask concerning her.

"I heard through one of my men of your arrest. He brought word of it to the farm," the farmer said at length.

"Miss Herbert knows—of course you told her—"

"Yes, North; yes, she knows!"
her father replied. "She knows and she urged me to come!"

He saw North's face light up with a sudden look of joy.

"She urged you to come?" repeated North.

"Yes—I think she would have come herself if I had not been willing."

"I am glad she did not!" said
North quickly.

"Of course! I told her it would only distress you."

"It would only distress her—which is all that is worth considering," rejoined North.

"That's so!" said the general, approaching the young man and resting a brown and muscular hand on his shoulder.

"She has told you?" asked North.
The older man nodded.

"Yes, she's told me," he said briefly.

"I can't ask if it was pleasant news at this time," said North.
"What do you wish me to do?" he continued. "She must forget what was said that night, and I, too, will endeavor to forget—tell her that."

He passed a shaking hand before his face.

"I've a note here for you, North," General Herbert was fumbling in his pocket—"from Elizabeth. Don't you be too quick to decide!"

"With your permission," said
North, as he took the letter.

He tore it open, and Elizabeth's father, watching him, saw the expression of his face change utterly, as the lines of tense repression faded from it. It was clear that for the moment all else was lost in his feeling of great and compelling happiness. Twice he read the letter before he could bring himself to replace it in its envelope. As he did so, he caught the general's eyes fixed on him. For a moment he hesi-tated, then he said with the frankness that was habitual to him:

"I think you should know just what that letter means to me. It is brave and steadfast—just as she is; no, you were right, I can't decide—I won't."

"I wouldn't," said the general.
There was a pause and then he added, "After all, it is not given to every woman to show just how deep her faith is in the man she loves. It would be too bad if you could not know that!"

"The situation may become intolerable, General Herbert! Suppose I am held for the murder—suppose a long trial follows; think what she will suffer, the uncertainty, the awful doubt of the outcome, although she knows—she must know I am innocent."

"Of course, of course!" cried the general hastily, for these were points he did not wish to discuss.

"It's a serious matter when you consider the possibility of an indictment," said North soberly enough.

"That's true; yet we mustn't count the cost now, or at any future time."

"Tell her that her letter has

he asked.

Elizabeth's father hurried from the room.

The Doctor's Advice

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free,
may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Elliwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

home to cure your child of bedwet-ting: Tincture cubeba, 1 dram; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams. Mix in water and give 10 to 15 drops one hour before meals.

"Miss Anna" writes: "I suffer with very severe headaches which also affects my eyes. My throat and nostrils are affected by catarrh and my breath is very bad. Could you prescribe a cure?"

Answer: I have cured hundreds who suffer as you do by prescribing the following and have received many letters from grateful people which indicates that it is speedily curative: Purchase a 2 oz. original package of vilane powder; to a pint of warm water add one-half teaspoonful and sniff the water from the palm of the hand through the nostrils two or three times a day or until they are thoroughly cleansed;
then apply well up into the nostrils twice daily the following catarrh balm: To one level teaspoonful of vilane powder add one ounce of lard or vaseline. If used according to the above prescription your catarrh should soon vanish. This should be used occasionally to prevent its return.

"Mildred K." says: "Please advise what I can use for a good hair tonic. My hair and scalp are in a very bad condition and nothing seems to help."

Answer: The best hair tonic on the market is sold in 4 oz. jars and is called plain yellow minyol. Any up-to-date druggist will have it. This is superior to anything known for the treatment of the diseases of the hair and scalp. Two or three applications have been known to cure, while it makes the hair soft, fluffy and makes it keep its natural color.

"Jane" writes: "My nerves are in a dreadful condition, my appetite is very poor and I am extremely thin. My face is so thin that it makes me very unhappy. I should like you to tell me a true remedy."

Answer: If you wish to become stouter, improve your appetite and your nervous system, I heartily recommend the use of three grain hypo-nucane tablets,

MRS. M'KENZIE DIES OF POISONING

Operation of No Avail;
Survived by Infant
Son; Funeral
Monday

Mrs. James McKenzie, 1602 Prospect street, died at a local hospital yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. McKenzie was taken ill with blood poisoning last Friday afternoon. She was taken to the hospital Saturday, where a slight operation was performed in the hopes of saving her life, but it was of no avail.

On Sunday morning a son was born, and after the birth Mrs. McKenzie began to grow worse until the end. She is survived by her husband, a small daughter, and the infant boy.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from the home, at 2 o'clock and at the Caledonia Street Methodist church at 2:30. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

BREAKS RIBS IN FALL ON STAIRS

C. E. Schafer, president of the La Crosse Floral company, suffered three broken ribs Sunday morning when he fell on the stairs at his home, 921 South Sixteenth street, while carrying his baby daughter. In saving the child from harm, Mr. Schafer was unable to use his hands to protect himself. At his home this morning it was said that he was in pain but that his condition had improved since yesterday. He had a bad night. It is expected that he will be confined to his bed for at least two weeks.

CRUSHES THUMB IN DRIVE WHEEL

While working on a railroad engine yesterday morning at Lytle, James Leonard had his hand caught in the drive wheel and badly crushed. He was taken to the La Crosse hospital, where his thumb was taken off. It was at first thought that blood poisoning might set in, but this was stopped by the amputation. Mr. Leonard is on the road to recovery.

Tonsillotomy Overdone.
The tonsil is useful in human throats, also animal throats. When a tonsil is so large as to almost fill the throat, it will be well to remove a portion of it. An adenoid, unless it is large enough to fill the breathing space at the back of the nostrils, will do no harm to let it stay and no good to remove it. Neither will colds be prevented or their cure hastened by any tonsil or adenoid operation.—Exchange.

Simple Things Best.
To retain youth you must cultivate and preserve your power to enjoy simple things. As our forms of pleasure become complex and expensive the soul becomes stiff and cramped. To love simple food and drink, simple methods of play, simple speech, and, above all, the manifest simplicities of nature, makes red blood. Resist the inroads of pessimism. It means the twilight of the soul and the empty night.—Frank Crane.

He Had Learned It.
"We are living in a grand and wonderful age," remarked a railway passenger to a stranger who occupied the seat beside him. "Invention is rampant everywhere." "Yes," said his companion, "that's about what I observed to a witness in a lawsuit against me recently; there are more liars to the square yard now than there used to be to the acre."

BANQUET IN HONOR OF FATHER MURPHY

St. James Congregation Shows Appreciation of Quarter Century of Services

NOTED SPEAKERS ON PROGRAM

Rev. Dunn Toastmaster;
Bishop Schwebach and Lieut. Gov. Morris
Give Addresses

At the close of the banquet which was given last night in the St. James school, in honor of the twenty-fifth year of his pastorate in the St. James church, Rev. Ambrose Murphy was presented with a purse of seven hundred dollars. Practically the whole congregation attended. Addresses were given by Dr. O'Gorman, president of the St. James Seminary of Dubuque, Lieutenant Governor Thomas Morris, Rev. Father Burns of the Polish Catholic church, Dr. Edward Evans, Frank Farnham and Bishop James Schwebach. Rev. A. B. C. Dunn was toastmaster of the evening, and responded to the addresses with his ever ready wit.

Dr. O'Gorman gave an interesting address on his relationship with Rev. Murphy. He said that he had known him for a number of years, and that he never had a truer friend. Lieutenant Governor Morris spoke of the service that Rev. Murphy had given the parish in the time that he had been in it, and spoke of the pastor in the highest of terms.

Rev. Father Burns, pastor of the Polish Catholic church gave an address on the duties of a pastor to his congregation. He cited instances in which Rev. Murphy had made every effort to do good for his flock and of the time spent in trying to build the parish up to the highest mark.

Dr. Evans' address was one of the features of the evening. He said that he had come to La Crosse about the time that Rev. Murphy came. He also spoke of the splendid work that had been done in the St. James parish by its pastor. He spoke of good citizenship and schools, commending the work done in the past by the St. James school.

Bishop Schwebach's address was a résumé of the work of the church in this district and Father Murphy's part in the progress of his congregation.

Mr. Frank Farnham made the closing address, with the presenting of the purse to Rev. Murphy. Mr. Farnham confined his address to the work done by the St. James club.

IS THIS YOUR DAUGHTER?

Are you letting thin, impure blood stand in the way of your daughter's health? Most girls have impoverished blood. Don't take it for granted that your daughter is free from it. Even now she may be in the first stages of bloodlessness. Its effects on her health and happiness are too lasting for you ever to let up in your care and watchfulness.

No matter how sick, worn out and discouraged she may be, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will give her new hope and life. In nine persons out of ten, bad blood is the real cause of their sickness and to it may be traced rheumatism, neuralgia, gas on the stomach, indigestion, anemia, chlorosis, sick headaches, nervousness, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica and nervous prostration. For those feeling only just a little out of order, there is no better time than the present to take this blood-building medicine.

Remember also that this is the time of the year when there must be no let down in your own health. Any lowering of the quality of your blood now is dangerous, as it makes the body an easy victim of the grip and colds. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to keep your blood pure and healthy and you will be well and strong.

A full explanation of the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is contained in the booklet, "Building Up the Blood." It will be sent free upon request. It will tell you how to treat your trouble and shows what these pills have done. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or direct by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents per box or $2.50 for six boxes. Address the

BROTHER HURRIES FROM THE WEST

To See Sister, Thinking She Would Die, but He Helped Her to Recovery

Nashville, Tenn.—"I was passing through the critical stage of life," writes Mrs. Kate E. Weaver of 1715 Cockrill street, this city, "and for three years and nine months, to the day, I was in a serious condition. I could not walk alone across the floor I was so weak."

My brother came from Dallas, Texas, to see me, thinking I was going to die. But he gave me the money to buy six bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I began to improve with the second bottle. The six bottles made me well, strong and hearty.

Since getting well, I have been to see my brother in Dallas.

Have talked to several of my lady friends, and now they are taking Cardui—my daughter for one, and it is helping her. She is 27 years old and I am nearly 51. Cardui helped us all.

I certainly do not know how to praise Cardui high enough. You may publish this letter if you wish, for Cardui certainly saved my life, and I cannot say too much for it.

I shall always recommend your wonderful medicine."

Cardui is good for young and old. It costs but little to try, and may mean so much to you.

Get a bottle of Cardui today.

HUGE CROWD AT EASTER DINNER

All records for church suppers in St. John's parish were broken last night, when 446 persons were served at the annual Easter Monday dinner. Serving began at 5 in the afternoon, and it was four hours later before all appetites had been satisfied. An apron sale was held in connection with the supper.

WRECK REPORTED BUT RUMOR DENIED

A report was circulated throughout the city this morning that a wreck had occurred on the Southern Minnesota division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad near Rushford, Minn., but the report was denied at the Milwaukee offices here today. The engine of an extra freight train was derailed at Whalen yesterday afternoon, causing a delay of two hours on the road. Slight damage was done, and no one was injured.

Friendship.

A friend advises by his whole behavior, and never condescends to particulars. Another chides away a fault; he loves it away. While he sees the other's error, he is silently conscious of it, and only the more loves truth itself, and assists his friend in loving it till the fault is expelled and gently extinguished.—Thoreau, in "Spring."

Holman Hunt's Failures.

Gambart, the art dealer, sent Holman Hunt to the holy land to paint a picture similar to the "Light of the World." Hunt returned with "The Scapegoat," which so disappointed Gambart that he refused to accept it. Seeing Linnell, the painter, shortly afterward, he plaintively said: "I wanted a nice religious picture, and he painted me a great goat."

Short Story

THAT FORTY DOLLARS

By CLARA INEZ DEACON

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Kitty Clarkson had come to the city for the same reasons that had brought hundreds of other girls from towns and hamlets, and would continue to bring them. She must become a bread-winner. They never see the other side of the case. It's all plain sailing to them. If it were not their friends would soon make it so.

When Kitty's father died it became plain that she must help out. She was young and in good health, and she was anxious to take hold. But at what?

Good old Dr. Watkins dropped in and hummed and hawed and finally slapped his leg and exclaimed:

"Dear me, but how absent minded I have become! You will go to the city of course, and there you will earn not less than $15 a week. Of course you will, of course."

"But what at?" Hum! Hum! I can't exactly say this minute, but I'll think it over and let you know later on. There are thousands of situations in the city waiting to be filled. Don't worry, dear. You'll come out all right."

The good Mrs. Johnson dropped in to say:

"Of course you'll go to the city. You may have to begin on something at $12 a week, but it won't be long before your salary will be doubled. You'll get one of the easiest places and the most pay, because you are a Sunday school teacher, and because the minister will give you a letter as a recommendation. He can vouch that you are honest, and are not in the habit of running out nights. You have never attended a circus, have you?"

"Never."

"We'll have him put that in the letter. It will show that you are not a frivolous girl. Have you ever danced?"

"No."

"That must go in, too. Whoever employs you must know that you are not one to put on your hat and walk off to a dance any time the fit comes on. I don't think you ever had a beau, did you? That is, you never had one that talked about getting married?"

"No."

"The minister order make the most of that in his letter. In the city they want to know that a gal they hire ain't talkin' love and marriage every evenin' and gettin' all upset over it. Let's see—you don't use paint nor powder nor bleach your hair?"

"Oh, no."

"I'll have the minister put that in. The folks down there don't want girls that primp up. Kitty Clarkson, you can take the minister's letter and go to the city and earn thirty or forty dollars a week right from the day you get there. There may be half a dozen business men to meet you at the depot. If we hear you are earning a hundred dollars a week nobody will be envious."

"But I don't know what I can get to do," said the girl.

"Do? Do? Why they'll offer you this and that, and you can take your pick."

Then the good spinster Martin came in to say:

"Yes, Kitty, it's going to be a great thing for you. You won't have the least trouble finding a place, but it would be a great thing for you to learn typewriting. You may strike a place with some banker who'll want a letter written. Come over to the house and I'll teach you."

In the course of a fortnight Miss Kitty departed for the city. She had with her the minister's letter as a certificate of character, and a specimen of her dexterity on the typewriter that read:

"The sun is up, and the sun is down. I can also write the Lord's prayer."

There was no one at the depot to meet the girl. There was no one to help her find a boarding house. The next morning's dailies did not chronicle her arrival.

Even when she had found a boarding place and paid a week in advance on a hall bedroom she had heard the landlady say to a border:

"There's another fool girl come to town instead of going to some idiot asylum."

The girl shed a few tears and went to bed and to sleep, and next morning she started out with a brave heart to secure a place. She was just too late that there had been scores of girls ahead of her. Sometimes, notwithstanding the impatience to get rid of her, she lingered to say:

"But I have a letter from my minister."

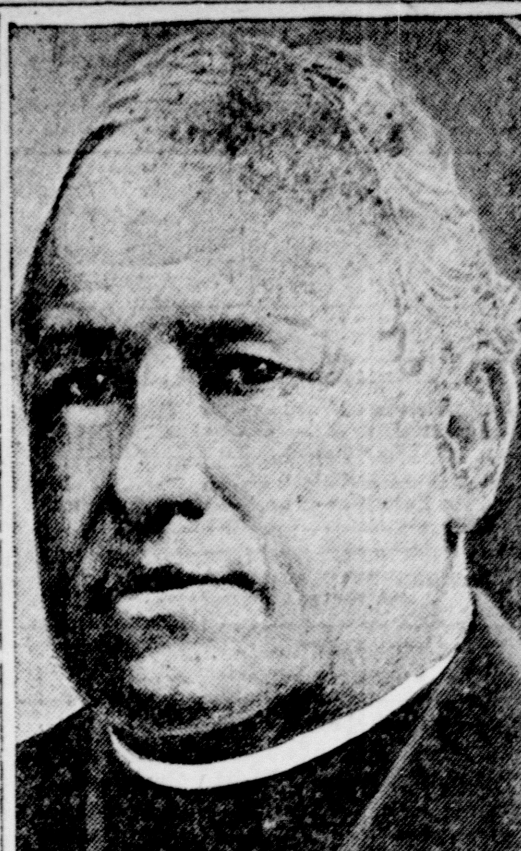

"You might as well have one from a pumpkin field."

"But I don't bleach my hair nor paint nor powder."

"But you'll soon get the hang of it."

At one or two other places they sat her down at a typewriter to test her work. After five minutes she was courteously bowed out.

It took Miss Kitty Clarkson less than two weeks to learn that what the doctor, the old maid, Mrs. Johnson and she herself knew about the big city could be held in a very small thimble. She walked about the streets for days and days. She called at offices and stores and factories. The only place offered to her after she had been turned away a hundred times was a situation in a box factory at $4 per week. She took it, but in another month would have been penniless but for a streak of luck. One evening in coming from the factory she found forty dollars in the gutter. Yes, there were four ten dollar bills, and they were wet and stained.

Miss Kitty did not advertise for an owner. One in a thousand might have done so, but she was not that one. At the noon hour next day she placed the money in a bank. Two weeks later she had to draw out $5 of it to make even, and it was at the paying teller's window she first caught sight of Brian Van Wert. He was a young man, and he was so courteous and kind as to draw her particular attention. She had never drawn a check in her life, and had to be shown how.

It was an uphill fight with the girl, but she hung on in hope of a better thing. She had not been able to send home a dollar yet, nor to earn her own way, but the landlady had encouraged her.

After a bit Miss Kitty had to draw out more money. More talk with the paying teller. At the end of three weeks the girl made up her mind to accept defeat and return home. While at work for the $4 per week she had advertised and sought in other ways to better herself, but without avail. It seemed as if there was a conspiracy against her. Yes, she would go back to mother and say she had failed.

A bank makes no mistakes—that is the mistakes are not made public. The receiving teller of the bank wherein Miss Kitty deposited her $40 entered it on a slip for the bookkeeper as $400. The girl was given a pass book with that sum entered upon it. She wondered over the odd cipher, but was too timid to ask questions. At the close of the day's business the bank was short $360, but it was traced to the Clarkson pass book, nor accounted for otherwise, and the receiving teller had to stand the loss.

When Miss Kitty had made up her mind to go home she knew that she had $20 in the bank. In writing out her check she made it for $200. She was thinking of the extra cipher, as she thought of it in the book. She received the money and rolled it up and put it in her bag and exchanged a few pleasant words with the teller and passed out. The money was not counted until she reached her boarding house. For a few minutes she was dumbfounded. She had $200 instead of $20. How could the teller have made such a mistake, for mistake it surely was.

If the girl was not technically honest in the other instance she meant to be in this. She had her hat on to return to the bank when she saw that it was after the closing hour and she must wait. She was one of the first to enter the institution next morning, however, and as soon as she had stated her errand she was escorted to the president's room. There the mystery was solved and the overplus money restored.

The president was a kindly man, and he drew Miss Kitty's hard luck story from her, and said at its conclusion:

"I could get you a place, but you can only about meet expenses, no matter what place you get. It's hard work, and poor pay and about half enough to eat for most of them. I am going to give you this $180 and tell you to go back to your village."

"And what?" she asked.

"Wait, my dear."

"What for?"

"For the man that will come."

"But—but—"

But she went and waited, and within a year he came. It was the paying teller. If the bank made a mistake he didn't.

The wife of a shiftless man excuses him on the ground that he means well.

Arsenic That We Eat.

It is known that arsenic exists normally in the tissues of the human body without doing harm. It is a constituent of peas, almonds and beans. Fresh lettuce, though rich in water compared with almonds and beans, reveals scarcely less arsenic. The foodstuffs poorest in arsenic are the banana, chestnut and leek.—Harper's Weekly.

Point He Had Overlooked.

The story is told of a man who bought a gallon of gin to take home, and by way of a label wrote his name upon a pickup card which happened to be the seven of clubs, and tied it to the handle. His son, observing the jug, quietly remarked, "That's an awfully careless way to leave that liquor." "Why?" "Because some one might come along with the eight of clubs and take it."

Fair Comparison.

"Do you mean to say that you compare yourself to Shakespeare?" "Why not?" inquired the manager of the Clothesline Burlesque company. "Shakespeare had pretty much my experience. The critics roasted him and the authorities were always threatening to close his show."—Washington Star.

"Subject" and "Citizen."

A subject is one who owes allegiance to a sovereign and is governed by his laws. A citizen is a member of a state or nation; one bound to the state by reciprocal obligation of allegiance on the one hand and protection on the other. A German in his own country is both subject and citizen. If he becomes naturalized in this country he becomes a citizen of the United States and is no longer a subject of anybody. If he does not become naturalized here he remains a citizen of Germany and a subject of the kaiser.

Simplify Life.

I do believe in simplicity. It is astonishing as well as sad, how many trivial affairs even the wisest man thinks he must attend to in a day; how singular an affair he thinks he must omit. When the mathematician would solve a difficult problem he first frees the equation of all incumbrances and reduces it to its simplest terms. So simplify the problem of life, distinguish the necessary and the real.—From Thoreau "Letters."

NEW DISCOVERY QUICKLY CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES

Chronic Sufferer Finds Relief After Few Doses Are Taken

If you are bothered with backache—or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders to contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon, no matter what else may have failed to cure you.

It is a positive fact that the new discovery, Croxone, promptly overcomes such diseases. It is the most wonderful remedy ever made for ridding the system of uric acid, removing the cause and curing the troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out all the poisonous waste matter from the blood.

CHARLES WESSON WIRES HE'S SAFE

Telegram from Local Boy Relieves Parents' Fears that He Perished in Omaha Tornado

"Am safe. Don't worry. Answer care of hotel.—Charlie." This message, received at 10 o'clock last night, quieted the fears of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wesson, 1619 Ferry St., for the safety of their son, Charles B. Wesson, who is in Omaha on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesson were considerably worried by a name in the list of dead, published in The Tribune last night, which bore a strong resemblance to that of their son. The name was that of C. B. Wesson, and they feared that it was the name of their son, garbled by the telegraph.

Their fear was allayed just before the receipt of the telegram by Mr. Wesson's discovery in a Dunn and Bradstreet directory of a C. B. Wesson, an Omaha businessman.

Telegrams from relatives in all parts of the country came to the Wessons today, condoling with them over the loss of their son, the similarity of the name in the list of dead having deceived many others.

No other names in the list of dead resemble those of La Crosse people who are known to be in Omaha.

Bulgars Reported to Have Captured Outer Works of Turks' Adrianople Defenses

SOFIA, March 25.—After a day of desperate fighting at Adrianople under cover of their siege guns, the Bulgarians captured the first line of the Turkish defenses, according to a statement by the war office today. The war office confirmed the reported surrender of David Pasha, the Turkish leader, and 15,000 of his men. David Pasha commanded the seventh corps of the Ottoman army and capitulated to the Serbians on the Skumbi river in Albania.

sons were driven from their homes by the flood. The rising waters put out the fires in the pumping station and the city water supply was cut off. One man was drowned this afternoon while attempting to clear floating logs from the High street bridge. Both the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroad bridges were swept away this afternoon. At 2 o'clock the river was still rising.

GUELPH, Ont., March 25.—Factory after factory along the banks of the river Speed was put out of business today by the flood that has been rising since early yesterday morning. Immense damage has been done to property, and many persons are homeless.

Thousands Homeless INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 25.—Tens of thousands of families were driven from their homes, industry and transportation all over the state suspended and millions of property lost reported from every section of Indiana, in the worst flood today in its recorded history.

Four drownings are known to have taken place but sections of the state cut off from all communication are expected to report other fatalities, when communication is restored.

Tonight some of the largest cities in the state will be in darkness and unprotected from fire, lighting and water works having been put out of commission by the floods.

PERU, Ind., March 25.—This city was completely inundated today by rising local streams. The flood is several feet high at points. The property damage is enormous.

8 Feet of Water in Streets KOKOMO, Ind., March 25.—Eight feet of water is rushing through the streets here today. A thousand homes are submerged and the inhabitants are crowded in the second stories of homes more fortunately situated. All boats were swept away and the marooned are without food. Marvellous, no lives were lost. The property damage is over a million.

Fort Wayne Suffers FORT WAYNE, Ind., March 25.—The most disastrous flood in Fort Wayne's history is nearing its crest today and it is now believed that by midnight the waters will begin to recede. At 11 o'clock, however, immense damage had been done, and it was apparent that in the next six or eight hours the loss would be immense.

VANDALIA, Ill., March 25.—The Kaskaskia levee broke in two places this morning and the water is spreading rapidly over hundreds of acres of farming land. Farmers in the flooded district removed their livestock last night to points of safety. Some of the families who remained believing the dike was safe, had to be rescued in boats.

The water is still rising and the indications are it will surpass the high water mark of 1882.

BOY BURGLARS CAUGHT IN ACT

Railroad Conductor Holds Two Prisoners, While He Telephones the Police

Attracted by a flash of light moving about in his house last night when he unexpectedly returned home, J. B. Callahan, 1145 Wood street, conductor on the C. B. & Q. road, captured two boys who were attempting to burglarize his home in his absence. As soon as they heard him coming the boys scampered for shelter and hid in a clothes closet but Mr. Callahan, convinced that they had not left the house when he came in, did not stop his search until he unearthed them. Holding them prisoners he telephoned to the police and Patrolman Michael Britton was sent to take them to central station, where they spent the night.

As soon as he learned that the boys were of respectable parents, friends of his, Mr. Callahan declared that he would not appear against them and up to late this afternoon the police had not decided whether they would be taken into court or not.

One of the boys had a flashlight in his possession when captured. Both admitted that they had intended to rob Mr. Callahan's home. They said that they conceived the idea when they were going by and noticed that the house seemed deserted. They made their entrance through a back door. The parents of both boys were called into conference with Chief of Police Webber today. The names of the boys were not given out for publication.

Fourteen unidentified bodies are lying in morgues in various parts of the city. To these places are flocking friends and relatives of the people who lived in the path of the storm.

No more damage is reported from Council Bluffs, and it is believed the death list in that place has been completed. The property loss will probably be $250,000. Altogether there were fourteen people killed in Council Bluffs.

Arrest Looters Two men, giving the names of John Fletcher and Arnold Dillon, were arrested last night by soldiers and charged are now preferred against them for looting the ruins. County Attorney Magney declares that looters and ghouls, if convicted, will be severely dealt with.

The scenes to be enacted today are the most trying of the entire catastrophe. There will be at least a score of funerals today and they will continue for days. Mute evidence of the terror of Sunday night's storm will be given when seven hearses, bearing the bodies of the Krinsky family, consisting of the parents and five children, wend their way to the cemetery.

Buried Alive 14 Hours

Fourteen hours after the storm had passed over the city, a crowd of curious watchers stood before the ruins of the Diamond Moving Picture theater. The firemen had just begun moving the debris, and it was considered impossible that any human being could be found alive under the tangled mass. A few of the timbers had been moved, when a negro, whose name was later learned to be

MRS. LENA VRCHOTA DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. Lena Vrchota, 1317 South Front street, died at her home last night at 8:55, after an illness of three weeks of a complication of diseases. She was forty-four years of age.

She is survived by her husband, who is a member of number four fire station, three brothers, Frederick, Ernest and Frank, of La Crosse, and four sisters, Mrs. Gust Tischer, Mrs. Henry Grabhorn, and Mrs. Frank Tischer of La Crosse, and William Nedvidek of Portland, Ore.

The funeral announcements will be made later.

CITY WATER TURNED ON FOR NORTH SIDE

The city water was again turned into the North side mains late yesterday afternoon after being cut off for two days by a break in the main near the La Crosse river. As soon as the break was discovered, James Day of the board of public works put a crew of men at work and the connection was made without any trouble. The break was caused by a cave-in which came as the result of flood water in the La Crosse river. No further difficulty is anticipated.

JEWEL SWINDLER IS ARRESTED HERE

Wariness of Parker Clerk Exposes Alteration of Pass-book to Cash Fake Check

The wariness of Fred Warrington, clerk at Parker's jewelry store, today was the cause of saving a valuable watch and chain to his firm and the arrest of what is believed to be one of the smoothest confidence men who has visited this city in some time. The man arrested gave his name as Jack Phillips of Chicago, and when captured by Detective Jos. McGrath, who was sent on his trail, the first question he was asked was, "What town am I wanted in now?"

Deposits One Dollar When Phillips came to La Crosse two days ago he deposited with the State Bank of La Crosse a check for $250 for collection drawn on the Le Seuer Farmers' National bank of Le Seuer, Minn. He also deposited a similar check with the Bataavian National bank. Then he deposited one dollar in currency which entitled him to a pass book. He was given the book which showed a credit of $1.

Today Phillips went into the Parker jewelry store and asked to be shown some watches. After looking over the stock he picked out a watch worth $60 and a chain worth $12. He then told the clerk that he wished to pay for his purchase by check and exhibited his pass book on the Bataavian bank to indicate that he had the money to redeem the check. His book showed that he had a credit of $461 with the Bataavian bank. When the clerk called up the bank to verify the account he discovered that Phillips was entitled to only $1 credit. While he was telephoning the stranger disappeared.

Found at Law A description of the man was then given the police and within a few hours he was located at a room in the Law hotel by Detective McGrath. The banks have sent the checks to LeSeuer for collection but have not heard from the bank there. The police have not determined the nature of the complaint which will be made against Phillips.

HAPPY, LAUGHING CHILD SHORTLY

If cross, feverish, bilious and sick let "Syrup of Figs" clean its little waste-clogged bowels

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative physic should always be the first treatment given.

If your child isn't feeling well; resting nicely; eating regularly and acting naturally it is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels are filled with foul, constipated waste matter and need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or your little one has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics it cannot be harmful, besides they dearly love its delicious fig taste.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggists for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious tasting, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

DISMISSAL IS REFUSED

JUDGE LANDIS OVERRULES MOTION TO DIRECT VERDICT OF NOT GUILTY IN ALASKAN FRAUD CASE

CHICAGO, March 25.—After United States Judge K. M. Landis had refused to take the $19,000,000 Alaska land frauds cases from the jury and direct a verdict of not guilty, attorneys for Albert C. Frost and his associates, on trial, began calling witnesses today. In overruling the motion to dismiss, Judge Landis said he was convinced that many of the men who located Alaska coal claims did so merely as instrumentalities of the corporation whose officers are under fire.

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Miss Ruby: An easily applied lotion that will clear your skin of sallowness can be made for a few cents by dissolving four ounces of spumax in one-half pint of hot water (or witch-hazel) and adding two tablespoonfuls of glycerine. It will whiten and beautify your skin and do away with that "muddy" look. It is better than face powder, as it does not show on the skin and will not rub off easily. The spumax lotion will give to any oily skin a pinkish appearance. It is fine for pimples, cold sores, freckles and as a protection to the face against harsh winds.

Frances: Your pimply complexion and loss of energy are due to lack of exercise and eating too much solid food. You need a system-tonic and blood purifier. Try this: Dissolve an ounce of karsene in a half-pint of alcohol (not whisky), adding one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful before each meal and in a short time you will feel like a new person, for it makes rich, red blood, fills you with energy and puts color and the look of health into your face.

Naomi: I have often warned against soap for shampooing. The "free" alkali in soap is injurious to the hair and, in time, causes it to split at the ends. A really good shampoo is simply made at home by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. This shampoo lathers abundantly, removes all dandruff and excess oil and leaves your hair soft and fluffy. It dries quickly and makes you imagine you have twice as much hair as you ever had before. After shampooing, an application of a quinzoin hair-tonic, (see answer to Mrs. G.) will prove very invigorating to your scalp.

Kate: Yes, you can reduce your weight without heavy exercise and dieting. The following formula has worked where other remedies have failed. Put four ounces of parnotis in 1½ pints hot water. When cold, strain out the sediment and take a tablespoonful of the liquid before each meal. It is a harmless remedy and leaves the flesh firm and the skin free from flabbiness.

Mrs. T.: You cannot afford to neglect your eyes, as so many do. If you want clear, beautiful eyes that will be much admired, get an ounce of crysots at any drug store and dissolve it in a pint of water. Put two or three drops of this tonic in each eye daily. It will strengthen your weak, tired eyes and make them strong, healthy, sparkling and beautiful.

Mrs. G.: Your hair needs a good, stimulating quinine tonic. Get one-half pint alcohol (not whiskey) and one ounce quinzoin and mix it with one-half pint water and you will have a better tonic than any of those ready-prepared tonics you have bought. Twice a week apply this tonic to the scalp, rubbing it in gently and you will find it does wonders for your lifeless, falling hair by curing dandruff and putting your scalp into a healthy condition. This tonic softens the hair, making it silky and lustrous. Keep the scalp clean by frequent canthrox shampoos and you will have no further trouble.

Stella: Get from your druggist a small, original package of delatone and with water mix enough into a paste to cover the hairs not wanted. Apply and in two or three minutes remove and wash the skin. Seldom is it necessary to use the second application of delatone to remove even a stubborn growth of hair. This is painless and leaves the skin soft and smooth.

TORNADO'S TOLL IN IOWA IS 29 LIVES

Fourteen Dead at Council Bluffs and Towns in Adjacent Part of State Suffer

DES MOINES, Iowa, March 25.—Slightly improved wire conditions in western Iowa bring news from the storm swept districts indicating that twenty-nine were killed in Iowa, many injured and a property loss which may reach $1,000,000 resulted. The dead are:

Favored Negro Melodies.

Gladstone was not merely a rapt listener to the Christy minstrels when they were in London many years ago. Lord Malmesbury's diary contains this passage: "Gladstone, who was always fond of music, is now quite enthusiastic about negro melodies, singing them with the greatest spirit and enjoyment, never leaving out a verse, and evidently preferring such as 'Camp Town Races'."

10,000 TELEGRAMS WAIT LINE REPAIRS

Omaha Offices Flooded with Messages of Survivors to Relatives Outside

OMAHA, Neb., March 25.—As a result of Sunday's storm ten thousand messages have piled up in the local telegraph offices, most of them being from residents of this city who wish to inform relatives outside of their safety. Thousands are death messages, telling of some grim ravage of the cyclone. Three hundred linemen are working desperately to repair the damage and put things in order for the telegraph companies. Twice that number are working on telephone lines in the city and suburbs.

Offers of assistance totalling half a million dollars have been received from outside points. One hundred thousand dollars has already been raised here and the legislature will today appropriate $50,000 more. Business men say they can raise $500,000 if necessary.

FURTHER ACTION IN LIQUOR CASES

SPARTA, Wis., March 25.—Another step in the movement on the part of the city fathers to punish violators of the excise laws of the city and state was taken Saturday night, when the special session of the council convened to take action on the complaint of A. G. Ferguson for the revocation of the license of Comstock & Davis, saloonkeepers, because of their alleged sale of liquor to the minors, John Miller and Cyrus Ferguson. This complaint grew out of the arrest and conviction of these saloonkeepers last week, but it alleges violations of the same nature last October, in the sale of liquor to some farmer boys from Big Creek.

The complaint also alleges that Comstock and Davis permitted gambling and probably refers to their permitting the operation of slot machines in the saloon. A resolution was adopted directing the city clerk to issue a summons commanding Comstock & Davis to appear before the council next Tuesday evening, March 25, and show cause why their license should not be revoked. Just what effect the revocation proceedings will have on the approaching vote on the license question is the subject of much speculation, but the consensus of opinion seems to be that the action of the city in making the saloonkeepers toe the mark will probably cause license to carry again.

Many voters seem to have no objection to the saloons as they are now conducted and when they live up to the law, and the prospect of losing the $6,400 license money, and being obliged to make it up in their next year's taxes, is the cause and reason for a great many license votes. Comstock & Davis have appealed their case reported in these columns heretofore to the circuit court and the case will be heard at the October term.

Papers were filed today with Register of Deeds Holden indicating the exchange by W. G. Brooks of his farm in the northwest corner of the town of Sparta, for the farm of Twest Shaw, which is located on the Castle Rock ridge. The considerations are not mentioned. Articles of incorporation of the Model Clothing company, incorporated by C. T. Thorbus, A. E. Howard and E. H. Hatch, of this city, have been filed with the register of deeds. The new company plans to operate a string of clothing stores through western North Dakota and eastern Montana. Mr. C. T. Thorbus, one of the incorporators, has maintained a store at Beach, N. D., for some years, and recently opened one at Sentinel Butte, in North Dakota. Plans are nearly consummated for a store at Belfield in that state. Mr. L. B. Westby, formerly of this city, is the active manager of these institutions and will continue under the new arrangement.

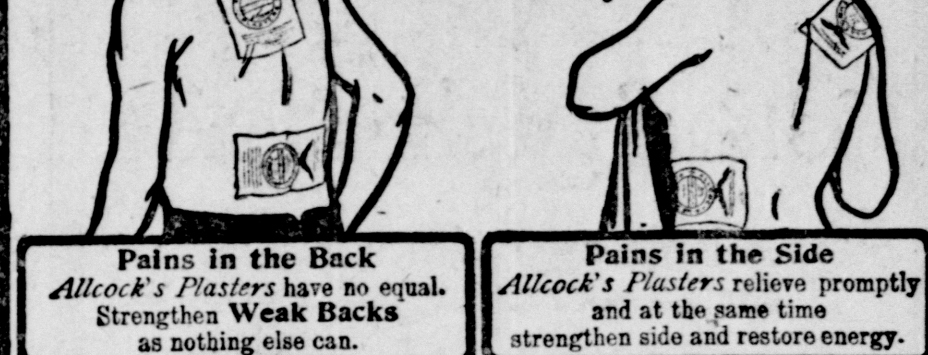

A. R. McClenaghan, editor of the Kendall Keystone, was in the city on business Saturday.

This is the season for the laying out of new roads. John Kast of the town of Wells is asking for a road from his farm in section 17 to the Lyons Valley road. Joe Teasdale wants the road along the east side of the John E. Jones farm in the town of Leon, which is in a bad state, widened, and Gaylord, Jones and others are petitioning for a road north from the old Edwards place in the town of Leon, and west through the town of Sparta, across the railroad tracks to connect with the road to Herseyville on the north side of the tracks. He has a record for ability and efficiency that is little short of wonderful, and his election to the principalship of the Sparta schools is a happy one. Much favorable comment is heard on all sides and he will have the hearty support of all parents and citizens in his work next year. A shakeup of the teaching force in the local schools is predicted by those who claim to know Mr. Bray's methods and rules of discipline for teachers as well as for pupils.

Bowels Get Weak As Age Advances

The First Necessity Is to Keep the Bowels Gently Open With a Mild Laxative Tonic

Healthy old age is so absolutely dependent upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to promote digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan, and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again, when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mr. O. P. Miller, Baroda, Mich., who writes: "I am 80 years old and have been constipated for many years. Since receiving your sample bottle I have procured two 50c bottles and find that it is the best remedy I ever used and does just what you claim for it to the very letter. I can not recommend it too highly."

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Any elderly person can follow these suggestions with safety and the assurance of good results.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

M'KINLEY LEAGUE CALLED A FRAUD

La Crosse Associated Charities Puts Stamp of Disapproval on Alleged Philanthropic Organization

MONEY RAISED GOES TO SALARIES

Nothing Left for Hospital Project Said to Be the Purpose of the League

That the McKinley Memorial Hospital league which has been soliciting funds in La Crosse supposedly for humanitarian purposes is little less than a salary paying proposition for men at the head of the league and that it does not fulfill its alleged purpose of fighting tuberculosis in the least particular are findings of the Associated charities of La Crosse after an investigation. The report of Miss Winnifred Salisbury, secretary of the Associated charities and Humane society on the league's operations is given in full as follows:

"About one week ago we were asked to investigate the standing of the McKinley Memorial Hospital league which had been soliciting funds in La Crosse. Our investigation gave us the following facts which we are glad to give out for the benefit of the public.

"The William McKinley Memorial Hospital league was incorporated in 1908 under the general corporations law of New York state to raise by means of donations, subscriptions and sale of goods, a fund for the erection of a monument to the memory of William McKinley, in the form of a hospital, which when erected, shall be open to all reputable physicians; also by means of selected camps at various places to aid in stamping out tuberculosis.

"Up to the present time the league's only work has been the raising of money but although $10,420.16 had been received up to September 20, 1912, their financial statement at that time showed a net deficit of $2,620.38. The expenditures had been for salaries, commissions and office expenses. The chief means of raising funds are by selling 'McKinley seals' similar to the Red Cross Christmas seals, and by the organization of a board of one hundred founders, to consist of those contributing $10,000 or more. This is distinct from its 'council of one hundred' which is a purely honorary body of men who have allowed the use of their names on the letterheads and literature of the league. Among these names are many very well known ones, including Governor Francis E. McGovern. That the lending of their names does not necessarily indicate that these men are taking an active part in the direction of the work or that they have any real knowledge of its activities, is shown by the fact that when the general nature of the work became known to Governor Dix of New York, he promptly withdrew his endorsement.

"The most serious faults to be found with this league, which may have been founded from purely humanitarian motives are these:

"In over four years no steps have been taken to do actual work along the lines for which it was founded. The officers and employees are not sufficiently conspicuous in their professions to make it wise for them to be in charge of a movement proposing to raise and expend $7,000,000.

"Although existing for the purpose of stamping out tuberculosis, no effort has been made to co-operate in any way with the National association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis, with which all state associations for that purpose are affiliated and which has as its officers and directors the most prominent medical men in the country.

"We are always glad to make investigations of this sort and to endorse any movement, and that do not duplicate the efforts of other organizations already filling the needs specified. In this case, the movement does not, in our opinion, meet these requirements sufficiently to make its support here wise.

"WINIFRED SALISBURY, General Secretary."

Superfluous Labor Counts.

The men who have achieved success are the men who have worked, read, thought more than was absolutely necessary, who have not been content with knowledge sufficient for the present need, but who have sought additional knowledge and stored it away for the emergency reserve. It is the superfluous labor that equips a man for everything that counts in life.

What Steel Contains.

"Unmagnetizable steel," says Emil Grossman, "contains from 9.8 to 10.3 per cent. of manganese and to 1.4 per cent. of titanium. The silicon contents must be less than .8, carbon below .03 and phosphorus .015. The value of such a steel where a shield for electric current is needed can be appreciated in ignition and other work."

Detaille, the French military painter, desired, like the English artist Turner, that his country should possess his paintings, and such of his pictures as he possessed at the time of his death are to become public property. His house, containing his collection of uniforms, weapons, etc., is devoted to the purposes of a museum.

To the Electors of La Crosse County:

Notice is hereby given that a judicial and school election is to be held in the several towns, wards and villages in the County of La Crosse on the first day of April, A. D. 1913, at which the officers named below are to be chosen. The names of the candidates for each office to be voted for, whose nominations have been certified to and filed in this office, are given under the title of the office and under the appropriate party or other designation, each in its proper column, in the sample ballot below.

INFORMATION TO VOTERS:

The following instructions are given for the information and guidance of voters:

(A) A voter upon entering the polling place and giving his name and residence will receive a ballot from the ballot clerk, which must have endorsed thereon the names or initials of both ballot clerks, and no other ballot can be used. Upon receiving his ballot, the voter must retire alone to a booth or compartment and prepare the same for voting. A ballot clerk may inform the voter as to the proper manner of marking a ballot, but he must not advise or indicate in any manner whom to vote for.

(B) If a voter does not wish to vote for the candidates nominated he shall insert the name in writing, of the candidate for whom he desires to vote.

(C) The ballot should not be marked in any other manner. If the ballot be spoiled, it must be returned to the ballot clerk, who must issue another in its stead, but not more than three in all shall be issued to any one voter. Five minutes time is allowed in booth to mark ballot. Unofficial ballots or memoranda to assist the voter in marking his ballot can be taken into the booth, and may be used to copy from. The ballot must not be shown so that any person can see how it has been marked by the voter.

(D) After it is marked it should be folded so that the inside cannot be seen, but so that the printed indorsements and signatures of the ballot clerks on the outside may be seen. Then the voter should pass out of the booth or compartment, give his name to the inspector in charge of the ballot box, hand him his ballot to be placed in the box, and pass out of the voting place.

(E) A voter, who declares to the presiding officer that he is unable to read, or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to mark his ballot, can have assistance of one or two election officers in marking same, to be chosen by the voter; and if he declares that he is totally blind, he may be assisted by any person chosen by him from among the legal voters of the county. The presiding officer may administer an oath in his discretion as to such person's disability.

The Judicial Election will be held in the entire county.

The School Election will be held in the entire county except the county school election which will be held in the Towns of Bangor, Barre, Burns, Campbell, Farmington, Greenfield, Hamilton, Holland, Onalaska, Shelby and Washington, and the Villages of Bangor and West Salem.

The following are the facsimiles of the official ballots:

GRANDMOTHER USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HER FADED OR GRAY HAIR

Mixed with Sulphur, It Makes Hair Soft, Beautiful; Cures Dandruff

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But the brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own, which is usually too sticky, so insist upon getting Wyeth's, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says his customers insist on Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because, they say, it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use too. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant. O. T. Erhart, agent.

MICHIGAN CITY IS CUT OFF BY SNOW

CALUMET, Mich., March 25.—With no rail communication and only intermittent and uncertain wire service, northern Michigan was on Monday shut off from the rest of the world, because of the blizzard which sprang up Sunday night, following a heavy rainstorm. All business of the district is at a standstill. No cars are running and the people of the district use snowshoes and skis to traverse the streets. Twenty-six inches of snow fell in nine hours. Drop mail boxes are snowed under on the main streets.

PASS TOWEL BILL

MADISON, Wis., March 25.—(Special.)—Several important Assembly bills were passed in the senate last night. The most notable of the measures was the McComb bill providing that individual towels must be kept in the washrooms of public buildings upon order of the state board of health. The Allison bill, which has for its central idea the beautifying of villages, and permits the creation of park commissions by villages, was given concurrence; as was the Spoor bill prohibiting the use of snag lines by fishermen in Wisconsin waters.

Good Word for the Spider.

Even those little weather prophet spiders that build their nests on the grass are of great value. It is claimed that if many of such webs are seen in the morning on the lawn, it will not rain, as these spiders know enough not to build them when it is about to rain. These same spiders capture hundreds of flies, and they are especially valuable in catching mosquitoes. The webs are harmless, as are the spiders, and should never be destroyed.

AGED VETERAN IS KILLED BY MANIAC

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 25.—W. A. Darling, aged 68, a civil war veteran, was shot and killed on Sunday by Gus Gusafson near the Darling home. Gusafson also fired a rifle bullet at Policeman Fred Schroeder, but the shot went wide. He was captured several hours later. Gusafson recently was brought before an insanity commission after having attempted to blow up a settlement home with a view to killing imaginary enemies in a boarding house nearby. He was ordered deported to Norway and officers escorted him to New York, where he was placed on a ship sailing for his native country. He reappeared in Minneapolis a few weeks later, however.

Great Writer Not Musical.

Macaulay was entirely insensible to the charms of music. He wrote from Windsor castle on January 14, 1851: "At table I was between the duchess of Norfolk and a foreign woman who could hardly speak English intelligibly. I got on as well as I could. The band covered the talk with a succession of sonorous tunes. 'The Campbells Are Coming' was one." And Macaulay's biographer, Sir George Otto Trevelyan, supplies the following instructive footnote: "This is the only authentic instance on record of Macaulay's having known one tune from another."

Unrelaxed Vigilance.

A young Tioga matron has just returned from a visit to her millionaire uncle. "I didn't have a very good time," she confided to a friend. "I had to watch my trunk every minute to keep the maid from unpacking it."

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, March 25.—Wheat suffered a reaction from yesterday's advance and dipped sharply today. Liverpool cables of bullish character had apparently little effect. May lost 1 1/2 c. The bearish undertone felt in the market for several days because of splendid crop prospects dominated today.

Armour support gave corn firmness early in the day but corn dipped later in the morning when the buying pressure was removed. May lost 1/2 c and July 3/4 c in the morning.

The oats market had a firm undertone early in the day with a moderate volume of trading. The decline in corn and wheat caused the market to become easier, and both months were down from 3/4 c to 1/2 c.

Provisions opened easier and declined slightly. May wheat rallied slightly in the afternoon, gaining 3/4 c, but July continued to decline.

Corn and oats held firm in the afternoon trading with no marked changes. Provisions changed but little and the range was small.

TO MAKE IT EASY FOR THE ARBITERS

A. A. President Plans to Hold School at Milwaukee to Clear Up Umps on Moot Points

CHICAGO, March 25.—"Anything to make it easy for the umpire," will be the text of President Chivington's address to the American Association umpires when they gather at Milwaukee April 8 and 9 for their annual instructions, prior to the start of the little "big" league circuit.

Since the close of last year's race, Chivington has been busy preparing a list of rules which are not so complicated as those in the rule book, especially making clear the measure relative to a player turning first base on a hit or error. As the rule reads it is up to the umpire to decide whether the runner has made a false start for second base after passing the initial sack. This places too much responsibility on the umpire, according to the league leader, and he has instructed A. A. players that they must turn on foul territory or get back to the bag before being touched with the ball.

Many other things of minor importance will be brought up at the meeting and each umpire has been informed that he must know every rule, for he will be required to answer many questions which will be chalked up on a blackboard. "Prexy Tom" will act as instructor and he will go through the rules from beginning to end, asking questions and giving illustrations at random.

LANGFORD M'VEY BOUT IS A DRAW

BRISBANE, March 25.—Sam McVey held Sam Langford to a draw in their twenty-round bout here yesterday and asserted after the fight that he thought he had now proved his former knockout by Langford a fluke.

Under Real Estate Laws.

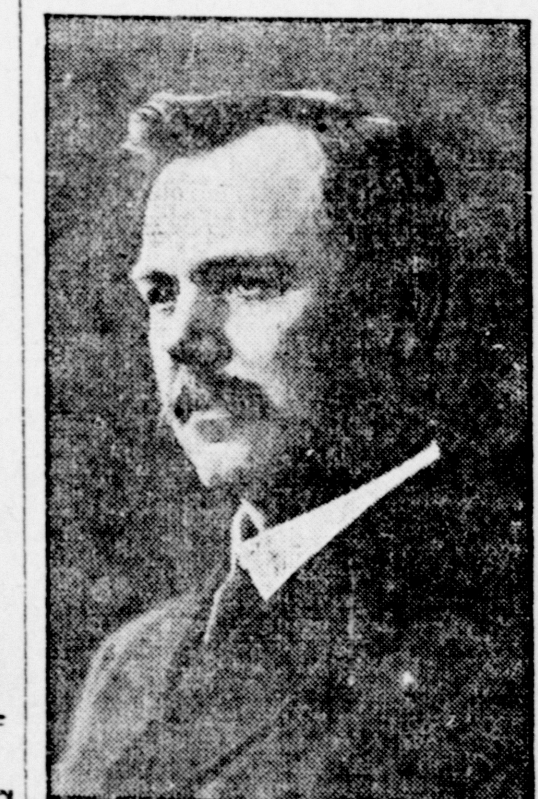

A man's interest in real estate under the laws of the United States extends from the middle of the earth to the blue empyrean. But if a man neglects to enclose his property, there is no jury in the country likely to convict another man of trespass for taking a short cut across one corner of it. And, by the same token, under existing laws, a property owner would have to enclose his share of the sky before he could hope to convict an aviator on a charge of trespassing.

Adam's Good Old Times.

"Just think how Adam would be surprised if he could come back to the earth now." "Yes, I suppose he would be considerably astonished, but I'll bet he wouldn't be here two hours before he'd begin to tell us how much better they used to do things in Eden."

FLOOD LOSS HIGH AT FOND DU LAC

FOND DU LAC, Wis., March 25.—With the waters of the Fond du Lac river slowly receding Monday night the danger of further damage from the flood is abating. The loss will fall heavily on merchants who had goods warehoused in basements as every one on the west side of Main street was flooded. There will be much damage to the homes that were surrounded by water.

Possibly She Had Been There.

A little girl who lived on a street near a dentist's office, where a shooting affray occurred, happened to hear the pistol shots and shouts of the police. Revolving it in her baby mind, an explanation dawned upon her and, turning to her father, she said, "He must have pulled the wrong tooth for somebody."

It is easy for a pretty girl to manage a husband during courtship.

A. A. U. BAN FAILS TO SPOIL MEET

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 25.—Entries for the aquatic meet to be staged under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian association Thursday night closed last night. Although the A. A. U. has put a ban on the meet this edict has not kept many of the boys away, in fact the entry list shows that all the leading junior swimmers of the city will compete.

Suicide by Dynamite.

A workman, determining to commit suicide, placed a stick of dynamite inside his clothes and exploded it. He succeeded only in being horribly burned. A second attempt was equally abortive. Then he dragged himself home and got more dynamite, and went into a nearby field and placed a stick in his mouth and blew his head to pieces.

FORSAKES PUGILISM FOR THE LAW COURT

Mike Gibbons.

Mike Gibbons, the St. Paul middleweight, announces that he expects to enter the law school of Minnesota State University next fall. Mike, one of the cleverest men in the business, feels that the next three years will be his best as a fighter, and that at the end of that time he will commence to go back. By that time, however, he will have completed his law course, and will be able to commence the practice of law. Clever and cultured, he should make as good at his new profession as his old.

MILWAUKEEAN WINS WAY TO INNER RING

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 25.—Kid Graves, Milwaukee welter, who has been hanging on the outer fringe of the inner circle of the stellar 142 pounders for a year past, has bounded into the limelight by reason of a clean cut point decision over Tommy Howell, the Philadelphia Italian. The victory was scored at the Quaker city Saturday night.

Assigning the Cause.

"What an extraordinary curve your horse has in the spine," said a gentleman to an Irish farmer. "Can you account for it?" "By the powers, sir, and to be sure I am able. I have heard, sir, that before the beast was my property he was backed against another horse, your honor, who beat him hollow, and I dare say it's the reason that his back never got straight again."

Painting Window Shades.

Window shades that have become cracked and broken can be renovated by laying them flat on the floor and painting them with ordinary oil paint bought at any hardware store in small cans. Paint one side, let dry thoroughly before touching the other side. This treatment preserves the shades and makes them last years.

Article Always in Demand.

More patents are granted for beds than for any other articles of furniture, most of them for folding affairs that masquerade as something else in the daytime.

Rather Ambiguous.

Mother (admonishing)—"Don't let the men come too near you when courting." Daughter—"Charles and I have a chair between us."—Judge.

Altercation.

Sunday School Teacher—"Who can tell me what an altar is?" Small Girl—"Please, sir, it's where they burn insects."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Always.

Whenever a new form of wickedness is invented there is sure to be a long list of volunteers who are willing to experiment with it.

Evidently John Wasn't Foxy.

John Fox never named any of his heroines Fritz; and now he probably knows the reason why.—St. Louis Times

SAMP TO COACH TEAM IN EAST

MADISON, Wis., March 25.—Edward J. Samp, for four years member of the varsity crew, three years member of the football team, "all-conference" tackle last season, has been appointed football coach of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y. Samp's appointment is especially significant on account of the fact that he is the first Wisconsin man and the first westerner to go east as a football coach.

Curiosity. Visitor—"Tell me, dear, is it because you think me very pretty that you look at me all the time?" Child—"Oh, no, it isn't that; but papa says you are a two-faced woman, and so I am searching for the other one!"

Keeps Your Stove "Always Ready for Company"

A bright, clean, glossy stove is the joy and pride of every housekeeper. But it is hard to keep a stove nice and shiny—unless Black Silk Stove Polish is used. Here is the reason: Black Silk Stove Polish sticks right to the iron. It doesn't rub off or dust off. Its shine lasts four times longer than the shine of any other polish. You only need to polish one-fourth as often, yet your stove will be cleaner, brighter and better looking than it has been since you first bought it. Use Black Silk Stove Polish.

BLACK SILK STOVE POLISH

on your parlor stove, kitchen stove or gas stove. Get a can from your hardware or stove dealer. If you do not find it better than any other stove polish you have ever used before, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. But we feel sure you will agree with the thousands of other up-to-date women who are now using Black Silk Stove Polish and who say it is the "best stove polish ever made."

LIQUID OR PASTE ONE QUALITY

Be sure to get the genuine. Black Silk Stove Polish costs you no more than the ordinary kind. Keep your grates, registers, fenders and stove pipes bright and free from rusting by using BLACK SILK AIR-DRYING ENAMEL. Brush free with each can of enamel only. Use BLACK SILK METAL POLISH for silver ware, nickel, tinware or brass. It works quickly, easily, and leaves a brilliant surface. It has no equal for use on automobiles.
